

THE
B.S.F.C.
MAGAZINE

OTHERWISE KNOWN AS

BRUCE'S
FANZINE

ABOUT THE COVER

There was a mistake made on our cover. If you find out what it is, you will get absolutely nothing. Hint: The mistake was not letting Bruce make the cover.

TO ALL B.S.F.C. MEMBERS:

We have some bad news and some good news.

The bad news is that the B.S.F.C. will only last as an official club until June 3, 1979, because after that the mascot, (that's Bruce), and the founders will be busy graduating from high school, finding jobs, and maybe even working.

The good news is that as B.S.F.C. members, your membership will not expire until that date. So you can change the expiration date on your membership card to June 3, 1979, or we will give you a new membership card.

By the way, you may notice that there are not many B.S.F.C. activities happening. Well, that's wrong because if you are a member and you do something with Bruce, that is a B.S.F.C. activity. Besides it is almost impossible to get everyone in the club together at one time.

Further note: If you have any ideas for what the B.S.F.C. can do, please tell one of the founders. Also, if there is something you would like to contribute to this magazine, please do so.

MOVIE REVIEWS

The founders of the B.S.F.C. went to see the Mel Brook's movie "High Anxiety", and this is what they thought:

Steve Kast: "It was a good movie."

Steve Voges: "It was stupid."

Bruce Smith: "Mel Brook's movie, High Anxiety, was different. The best part of the movie was watching the couple in front of us, and when I moved over a seat and sat on a half full cup of coke. The popcorn was good, except that it was hard to pick up off the sticky floor."

Along with the movie High Anxiety, another movie by the name of Fire Sale was shown. This is our founders opinions on it:

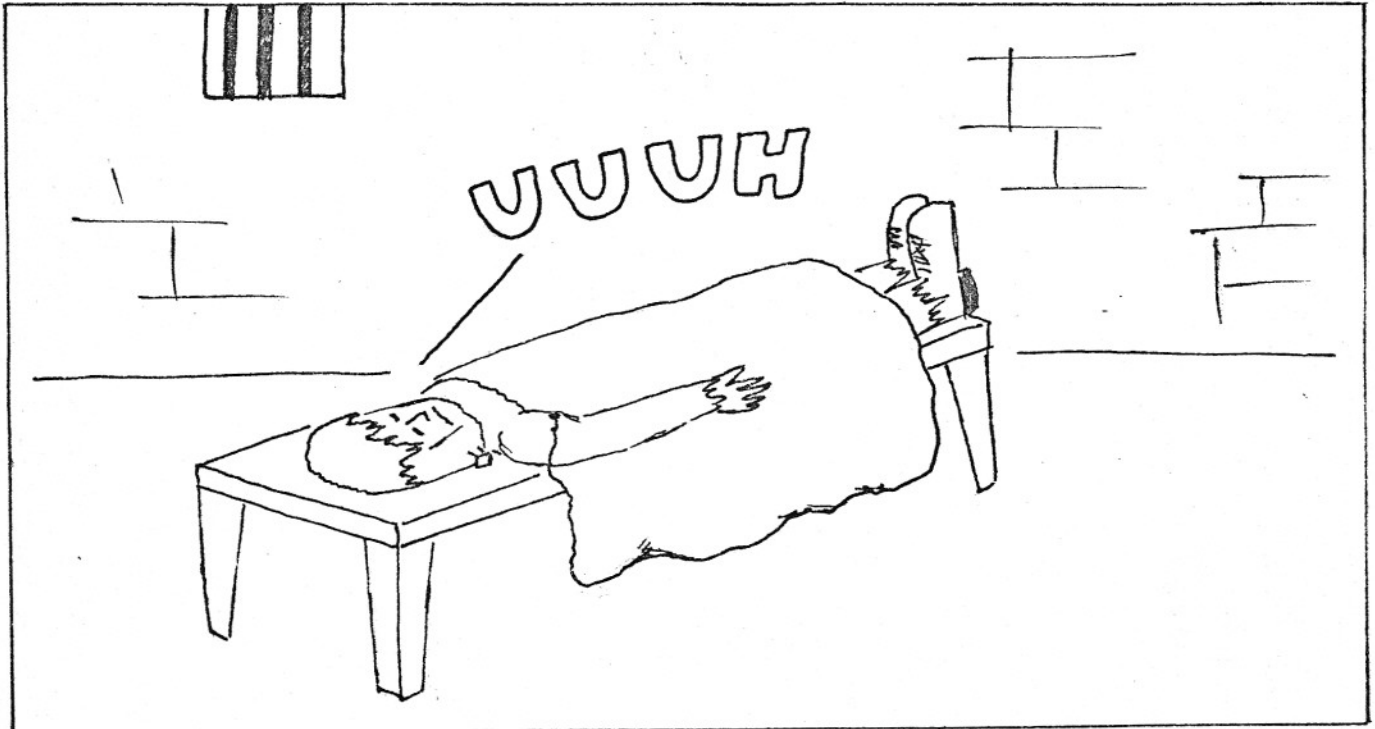

Steve Kast: "It was a good movie."

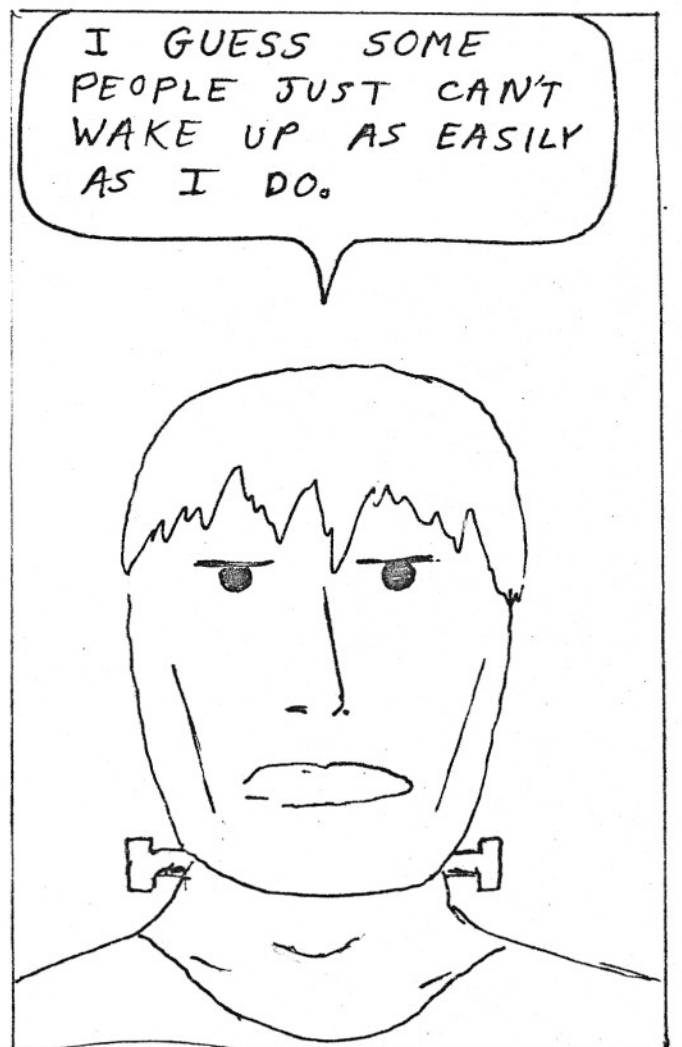

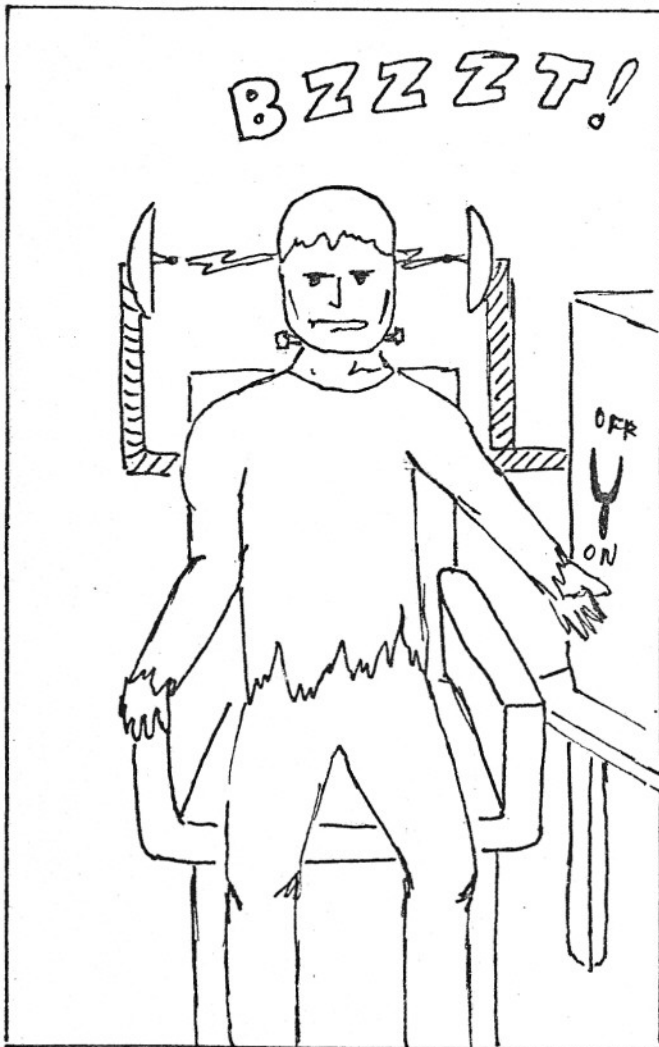

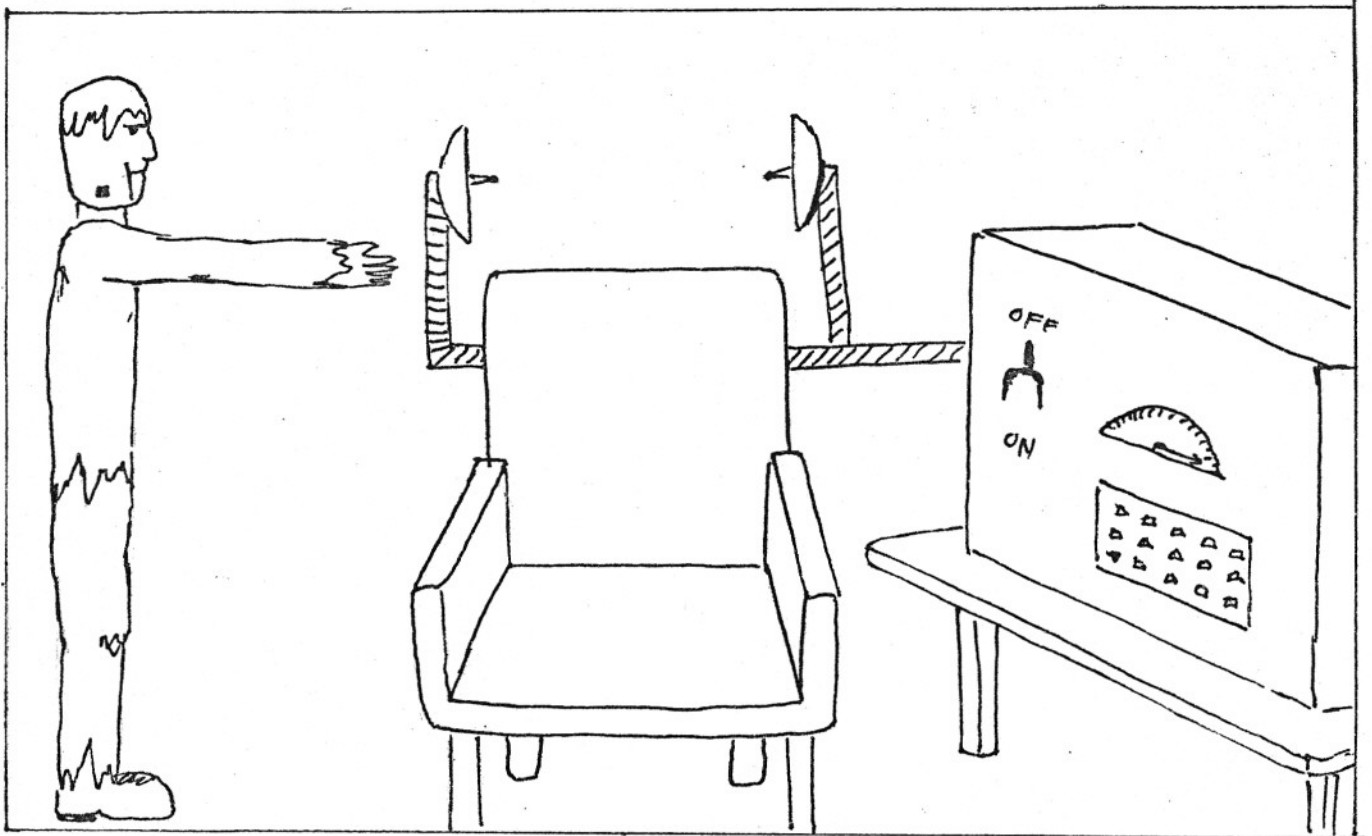

Steve Voges: "It was stupid."

Bruce Smith: "Fire Sale" was similar to High Anxiety, because it had the same type of insane, crazy, grotesque, things in it. You have to be really strange to enjoy it, so of course I had a blast. Fire Sale was a little better than High Anxiety because I had gone to the little boy's room during the intermission, and we had moved into the non-smoking area of the theatre."

UP TO DATE INFO. ON BRUCE

Many people upon seeing Bruce Smith ask, Where did he get that face?, or What happened to it? There are many theories explaining this phenomenon such as, He got hit by a truck, He was attacked by an angry dog, or He accidentally fell into a meat grinder.

People also have many different reactions upon first seeing Bruce's face. Some laugh, some cry, and some have spasms.

But what really happened to Bruce's face? This is the true story, (more or less). Bruce Smith used to be very handsome, (hard to believe isn't it)? Being so handsome, Bruce became the most popular <sup>boy</sup> at school. In fact, all the girls at school adored him. This was strange because he was only three years old at the time. One day, Bruce became tired of being popular because it was ruining his social life. So Bruce decided to become ugly. This was a dumb thing to do, but Bruce was never very smart anyway. When Bruce decided this, he went down to the neighborhood K-MART and traded in his face for a new one. Unfortunately this new face was damaged in a wild amadillo stampede, right after the guarantee ran out. And so Bruce has been stuck with that same face until this very day.
